News from Leisa Lance

Richard did really well in his bypass surgery yesterday and is now awake and doing his physio (aka torture) exercises. He's quite cheerful, as you'd expect from him, but the pain is considerable and I can't say that he is all that comfortable, but he might be a text book case - everything is going to plan.

I had a sense, yesterday morning before the operation, that the space around Richard was thick with loving prayer. I don't pretend to understand how these things work, but that sense of 'otherness' was definitely there and very reassuring. So thank you for your part in that and for the great love and friendship at Dayboro Uniting.

Please pass on my thanks to everyone at church tomorrow.
